

The life after 2020

I step outside,
And take off my mask
Wash the chemical off my hands
And start to walk

I look around
And see greenery around me,
The peace and tranquility
Is all that I feel

I look up,
And see birds soaring high
Listen to the sound of lush grass
And take in the clear blue sky

In front of me,
Is a small family
All singing and playing
Enjoying the moment happily

Just a few yards away,
Is a yellow school bus
I see students embracing each other
Not in any rush

Everyone is helping each other,
And passing by smiles
They're carefree and bliss
Its something i haven't seen in a while

It's hard to believe
The change that came
All because of the past few months
It really made us all tame

I can't help but think,
About all the damage that we had caused.
But nature healed it self
And i feel guilty for that loss

Is this the new normal
Is this the real reality
Will it always stay like this?
Is it life after 2020?
