Virtual dinner with my grand parents

The lockdown since mid March due to COVID 19 ^{showing} is us new ways to live happy.

Every summer vacation I meet my grandparents. But Summer 2020, my grandparents were stuck in Guwahati, Assam and I was stuck inside my house in Mumbai. Even though I am stuck inside the house I am not getting bored as I am learning new things. I am learning to wash hands and sanitise properly so that we remain healthy and safe.

I do video calling everyday with my grand parents. Even though they are in Oruuhati, I do not miss them much now a days as I get to see them everyday. We sing together, crack jokes and have fun. Thanks to the virtual world that mom even planned a dinner together with my grand parents. Mama fixed the date and time for my virtual dinner with my grand parents. We were all excited with ^{this} new idea. My grand mom cooked their dinner and kept every thing ready. Mama made lovely mango chicken pulao and I made watermelon juice. I was very excited and set the table nicely. We even dressed up well as if we were going out to dine in a nice restaurant.

Finally on 20th May the clock struck 9:00PM and there I could see my grandparents on the screen in the best of their attire too. I was so happy to see their happy and smiling faces. I even tried to feed my grandmom through the screen. Yes, this was when I realised that they were physically not with me.
